1. Claims 35 – 55 are presented for examination.
2. Claims 52-55 are objected because the numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).
3. For purpose of examination, misnumbered claims 52-55 been renumbered 51-54.
4. Applicant is requested to file an amendment to renumber original claim numbers 52-55 to 51-54.
5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

6. Claims 35-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as being anticipated by Cue et al. (Cue) Pub. No. 2005/0240494.

7. As to claim 35, Cue teaches the invention as claimed, including a method for playing media the method comprising:

sending at least one attribute of a playlist corresponding to the selected playlist name to a playlist server (Fig 2; page 3, paragraphs [0037 – 0039]);

receiving a playlist from the playlist server, the received playlist corresponding to the at least one attribute and comprising a plurality of media item identifiers (pages 2-3, paragraph [0033 – 0034]);

selecting at least one media item identifier from the received playlist (pages 2-3, paragraph [0033 – 0034]); sending information representative of the at least one media item identifier to a content server (pages 2-3, paragraph [0033 – 0034]);

receiving a media item identified by the at least one media item identifier from the content server (pages 2-3, paragraph [0033 – 0034]); and playing the at least one media item (pages 2-3, paragraph [0033 – 0034]).

8. As to claims 36-47, Cue teaches playing the at least one media item on a first device or a second device; a first device comprises one of a handheld portable device, a palmtop, an MP3 player, a mobile phone, a remote control; the attribute selected from a group consisting of a type of music, a playlist name, an artist, etc; playing a plurality of at least one media item in different order; providing a recommendation of a playlist name based upon listening habits of a listener (Figs. 2, 4-5; pages 1-3, paragraphs [0004 - 0005, 0031, 0037 - 0038]).
